WHO IS RICH?

I heard you... My answer has also been the same as yours till recently. It is difficult to credit any single thing with the change. I have lived in the US for 15 years now. For a long time — just like back in India — I considered people with great cars, houses and such possessions rich. The more you have left after meeting your basic needs, richer you are by the worldly yardstick.

Suddenly, I started considering those drivers rich, who would stop in the middle of the road to allow the column of geese to cross first. Those houses count rich for me where there is time for others. And others may or may not be humans. They are rich for me who walk to a flower and smile back, smell it, admire it, and appreciate it.

All those who have a lot of money and material, but no time for anything else, are below the poverty line on Charanjeet Scale. When the melody of the lyrics fails to enthuse the celebrities, they deserve the same sympathy meant for a young girl begging for food on the street. A billionaire who owns yachts and airplanes is bankrupt if she is not grasped by the softness of a moist morning; when chirping birds upset her ducks in a row!

That poet is stinking rich who can give you a wealth to hum along your entire life. Who can correspond to the richness of the musician with music able to infuse life amid dead? What will be the height of the pile of money that can create enchantment forever similar to Nature? How powerful money and assets have to be to match the grace of real love?

The month of April is a curtain raiser for traditional New Year in India. May God give you readers real richness. With that wish...from me, to you... Happy New Year!

4. Test Phases

In our test strategy, we should have a clear plan of the Types and levels of testing the project will go through. A comprehensive approach should be analyzed for the project/ application. QA team should consult system architects, development team to understand the application architecture and system architecture. This will help QA team to select the test levels. Below are some of test levels selected by QA teams,

String Test – This test is done by developer, preferably in integrated environment.

Assembly Test – This test is done by QA team in integrated test environment

System Test – This test is done by QA team in system test environment for testing the functionality of the system.

System Integration Test – This test is done by QA team in integrated test environment.

UAT test – This test is done by UAT team or Business Representative.

DITL Test – This is a Day in life testing conducted by real users of the application before they Go live.

QA team should also elaborate on the types of testing planned for the project. Typical types of testing are like smoke testing, Regression testing, Negative testing, penetrative testing, boundary testing etc.,

QA team should also have a plan for non functional testing in the test strategy more important like security testing & performance testing. A holistic approach should be given on security and performance testing.

5. Test Deliverables

Test strategy should have a list of all test deliverables that will be planned as a part of the project. Some of the deliverables like

- Test Plan –
  - System Test Plan
  - System Integration/E2E – Test plan
  - UAT Test Plan
  - Performance Test Plan
  - Automation Test Plan
- Test Scenario
- Test Case
- Test Closure Memo/Test Summary Report
- Automation Test Scripts
- Performance Test Scripts
- Requirement Traceability Metrics
